Book Trackers: Idea

The Problem

Books are often misplaced, lost, and un-organised.

The Solution

Book trackers that can visualise the library, indicate where books should be placed show where a certain copy is, help find lost books.

How would it work?

the trackcer would be no larger than 2x2x0.5cm this let the tracker be seamless and not take up to much space.
The tracker would be applied like a sticker.

Features

Librarians would be able to visualise their library digitally and be able to toggle different views to track down misplaced books.

It could also double down as a easy borrowing feature.

It would be super secret spying device.

Thanks
